

2018 SHRM Vermont State Council
HR Professional of the Year
OR
Emerging HR Professional of the Year Award
Call for Nominations

The SHRM Vermont State Council is accepting nominations for HR Professional and Emerging HR Professional of the Year Awards. The selected honorees will receive the award at the 2018 SHRM Vermont State Human Resources Conference at the opening session on Wednesday, September 26th at the DoubleTree by Hilton Conference Center in Burlington.

HR Professional of the Year Award Criteria:

We are once again recognizing excellence and innovation in Human Resources Management in Vermont! Tell us who in your HR department is inspiring innovation, creativity, development and organizational excellence which is making a significant impact on your business' success!

- Nominees for the award must be members of a local SHRM Chapter and the national SHRM organization and be employed by a Vermont-based company.
- Made worthwhile contributions to their organization; or
- Made efforts to further the HR practice/profession (i.e. supported or championed efforts improving human capital management); or
- Made worthwhile contributions to the community.

Emerging HR Professional of the Year Award Criteria:

Do you have an “up-and-coming” Human Resource Professional who has made promising contributions to your organization or the HR profession utilizing innovative opportunities and creativity? Then please nominate him or her for this award!

- Emerging professionals will have no more than 5 years of experience in the HR field.
- Please describe the professional accomplishments and/or innovations of the nominee. What is the direct impact on the HR profession, your organization or on you?
- How is the nominee involved in the Vermont HR community?
- What leadership qualities does the nominee possess?
